

Share

Tweet

HOME

NEWS

INTERVIEWS

REVIEWS

CONTACT US

The Australian School of Performing Arts, Film and Television are presenting "Music: A Muse to Seek" this December at QPAC. Artistic Director Amanda Hardwick joined Damien Lee to talk about this production and the wonderful talent coming through the academy.

ASPA-FTV, a leading performing arts and film production school across South East Queensland are to present their end of year production Music: A Muse to Seek in the Cremorne Theatre, QPAC on December 12th.

Music: A Muse to Seek is made up of three original plays performed by the students of ASPA-FTV's course Creative Theatre Production. With the direction of their course teacher, the students worked together to help conceive, write and stage an original play under the theme Music: A Muse to Seek. As a result, each play will explore the title in its own unique way. The students have worked feverishly over the last twelve months, and are excited to show off their hard work culminating in a live performance at QPAC on the 12th December.

The Australian School of Performing Arts, Film and Television present Music: A Muse to Seek at the Cremorne Theatre, QPAC on December 12th. Tickets can be purchased through: www.qpac.com.au or 136 246

Hear The Full Interview Below!

Mailing Address: P.O. Box 361 Carina 4152

Webmaster Login

HELPMANN AWARDS 2015

Contact

Old Podcasts

Reviews

News

Interviews 2016

Interviews 2015